HERIOT-WATT COLLEGE.

This institution, the annual provision for which is to be not less than £4,000, is mainly intended to give thorough scientific instruction, at moderate fees, to students in attendance at evening classes. Day classes for higher technical training were established in the College in 1888. In the bursary system, established in connection with the Heriot-Watt College, are included bursaries for (1) "covering the cost of education & books" of students requiring aid in attending the evening classes; & (2) assisting students to carry on their education in the day technical department, or in the University of Edinburgh

There were over 3,200 students (male & female) in attendance at the evening classes in session 1895-6
